SIGNS OF REVOLT AGAINST RECOVERY PROGRAM IN U. S.

Have Administration Leaders
Worried In The Mid-West

DISTURBING FACTORS

"Little Fellow" Finds Tough
Sledding Under The NRA

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 20.—Disturbing signs of revolt against the administration's far-flung recovery program were hoisted along several sectors of the front where the fighting is keenest. They have administration leaders distinctly worried in the agrarian mid-west and bitter farm leaders have called a national farm strike for tomorrow in protest of low prices for what the farmer has to sell and high prices for what the farmer has to buy.

In the strike-torn coal industry, particularly in Pennsylvania and Illinois, miners are battling between themselves and with the owners of big steel's captive mines.

Behind these disturbing factors is another, not so well organized, but potentially more dangerous than either—a revolt of the "little fellow," the small employer who is finding tough sledding in adhering to the conditions of the N. R. A. in competition with the "big fellow." For some days the N. R. A. officials have been disturbed by the flight of the "little fellow" away from the blue eagle. Not much has been said about it but quietly they have set to work to ascertain how compliance with the N. R. A. can be made less onerous for the little man confronted with rising overhead cost and a market that has not risen proportionately.

The administration is fighting the recovery battle on a dozen fronts, the N. R. A.; the Agricultural Adjustment Administration; the Public Works Administration; the Commodity Credit Corporation, etc. Yet, in the popular mind, the N. R. A. epitomizes the whole program and it is against this organization that most of the criticism is directed.

Break Eight Panes of Glass To Steal 3 Gallons of Gas

Someone, apparently a motorist out of gasoline, broke eight panes of glass to steal three gallons of "gas" last night. The "gas" was taken from the chapel at the Bristol Cemetery.

Strenuous efforts were made to break into the chapel, according to the indications about the place this morning. Two window sash had been jammed and considerably battered, while a third was torn from its hinges.

The lock on one of the doors was twisted and bent and a large section of lead pipe lay near at hand where it apparently had been dropped after being put to good use.

Festive Time Enjoyed As A Masked Affair Is Held

Members of Troop, No. 4, Junior Catholic Daughters of America, with Mrs. John Lawler, counsellor, and their friends, held a masquerade frolic, last evening, in the K. of C. Home.

The home was dressed in black and orange decorations, and was redolent of the Halloween season.

Favors for fanciest garbs were given to the Misses Ruth Blanch and Virginia Smith; the Misses Mary Smoyer and Janice Muffet earned prizes for most original costumes; while the Misses Mary Jane Clark and Mary Quigley were rewarded for being attired in the most comical costumes.

Miss Mary Appleton proved the most skillful in one game, for which she received a favor. Bobbing for apples occurred.

The guests had much merriment with a broom dance, and a Paul Jones also proved popular.

Refreshments of cider, spiced cakes and apples were served.

GIVEN VERDICT AGAINST HER BROTHER-IN-LAW

Miss Stroymeyer is Given
$31.64 and Costs as Result of Suit

VERDICT FOR PHONE CO.

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 20.—A jury awarded Miss Anna Stroymeyer, of Atlantic City, a verdict for $31.64 and costs in a suit against Henry E. Baltzell, Jr., of Hilltown township, estranged husband of the plaintiff's sister.

The plaintiff brought suit to recover $470, money loaned to the defendant a year ago. The defense entered a counter-claim for an electric washing machine, an electric refrigerator and board of riding horses, which the jury adjusted in the verdict rendered. The case was tried before President Judge Hiram H. Keller.

Seated at the counsel table with the plaintiff and his attorney throughout the trial was the estranged wife and sister of the defendant, Mrs. Camille S. Baltzell, who lives with the defendant in their Atlantic City home.

The plaintiff brought suit against the defendant to recover $470 that the latter admitted he borrowed from her as a loan in 1932. But the defendant filed a counter-claim against Miss Stroymeyer in which he seeks an adjustment of the amount on a claim that the plaintiff has removed from his home in Hilltown township an electric refrigerator, and an electric washer.

The articles, the defendant testified, were removed to the home of the plaintiff in Atlantic City.

The defendant also put in a counter-claim for the board of horse amounting to approximately $100.

The trial and speeches to the jury by the attorneys were filled with personalities that at times almost reached the breaking point. Several times the plaintiff's counsel had to serve as "referee" as the arguments threatened to reach the fistfights stage.

The plaintiff attorney, in addressing the jury, stated that the defense had simply trumped up certain charges in a counter-claim to get out of paying an honest debt. In return for that remark, defense counsel informed the jury that his client never had a chance to settle anything when "the three sisters got together," but that he was in hopes that now, in civil court, an adjustment would be made.

Members of the jury included Edward Duke, Morrisville; Eunice Henry, Bristol; Nathan Myers, Pipersville; Mabel W. Goodnoe, Newtown, R. D.; Jane Fluck, Quakertown; Lilly Robinson, Bristol R. D. 2; Louisa W. Watson, Fallsington; Lester E. Williams, Croydon; Eva Jarrett, Trumbauersville; Marcella Wile, Quakertown, R. D. 2; S. Jane Pearce, Doylestown.

The case was tried before President Judge Hiram H. Keller and the jury retired to deliberate shortly before noon.

A jury on Wednesday afternoon returned a verdict in favor of the Bell Telephone Company of Penna., the defendant in a three-day trial in which the plaintiff, Lloyd Cressman, claimed damages amounting to nearly $3,000.

The trial was the outcome of a damage suit brought by the Richland farmer, who alleged his car was damaged when it collided with a pole on the Centre Valley-Bethlehem highway, in dodging a hanging wire.

Civil damages aggregating $35,000 is being sought in a case now on trial in civil court before President Judge Keller.

A NARROW ESCAPE

(By "The Stroller")

A girl whose name was not learned had a narrow escape from being run-down by a motorist last night at Jefferson avenue and Radcliffe street.

The girl was on roller skates and turned off of Radcliffe street into Jefferson avenue. A motorist turned off of Jefferson avenue into Radcliffe street. "He had good brakes and that is the only thing that saved the girl," said a witness to the affair.

COLORED SLIDES SHOWING FLOWERS OF JAPAN ARE SHOWN MEMBERS, TREVOSE HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY, BY J. V. HARE, WHO IS ALSO SPEAKER

Garrett V. Clark is Named President of the Association—
Mrs. George S. Purdy is Named to Serve on Program
Committee — Prizes Awarded for the Exhibits

TREVOSE, Oct. 20.—Garrett V. Clark was this week elected president of the Trevose Horticultural Society, when 450 people gathered in the community house, for the regular meeting. Others chosen to serve as officers are: Vice-presidents, Mrs. Funk, Mrs. Henry G. Parry, Dr. B. B. Parrish, Paul H. Deigendesch and Philip Moore; recording secretary, J. V. Hare; corresponding secretary, Arthur Carr, and treasurer, Charles V. Randall.

The chairman of the roadside planting committee, Mrs. Hugh D. Graham, told of having attended a meeting of the National Federation of Garden Councils, where those in attendance were told what is being done in the various states in the line of roadside beautification. Maryland, said Mrs. Graham, has removed 100 billboards from its highways and Kentucky is doing much in the way of preserving natural rock formations along the highways. West Virginia had been placing many drinking fountains along its roads. Mrs. Graham requested that the members of the society furnish her with suggestions for roadside beautification in this locality.

Mrs. George S. Purdy was appointed by Mr. Clark to serve on the program committee for the coming year.

There was a fine display of flowers, one table being for artistic arrangement and the other for specimen blooms. Miss Anne Westler, of the Ambler School of Horticulture, and a number of students from the same school served as judges.

Prize winners in the exhibit included Mrs. B. B. Parrish, Endfield, and Mrs. William and Mrs. Walter Pitzonka, Bristol.

The speaker of the evening was J. V. Hare, who gave an illustrated lecture on the gardens of Japan. The slides he used were very highly colored and were made in Japan. Mr. Hare spoke of Japan as "the land of the rising sun." He said it is a peaceful and tranquil country, but on the other hand there are an average of three earth tremors daily and some of them are rather severe. Their summers are very hot and short and during the long and cold winters the chill winds from Siberia to the north supply Japan with many snow storms.

The people are taught from early childhood how to arrange flowers and when they do this three things are impressed upon them. The flowers must be arranged in the containers at three levels. The highest level of flowers, one and one-half times the height of the container, represents God, the second level, half the height of the first, represents man, and the third, half the height of the second, represents earth. The natives, said Mr. Hare, are able to do marvelous things with a few flowers, a pair of shears and a container.

It has been a custom of these people for many years, said Mr. Hare, to select some beauty spot in the country. This they survey very closely and then

WRITE ALL QUESTIONS FOR DEAF WITNESS

Riegelsville Man Claims His Hearing Was Destroyed
In Crash

SUES FORTY-FORT MAN

DOYLESTOWN, Oct. 20.—Claiming in a suit for damages in court Wednesday that an automobile accident had destroyed his hearing, William L. Miller, 74, of Riegelsville, the plaintiff in an action of trespass, had to have both his attorney and the defendant's attorney write every question they wished to ask him during the trial. Harry N. Carey, of Forty-Fort, is the defendant.

The plaintiff, who was employed by an Easton drug store up until the time of the accident, testified he was walking along the Lackawanna Trail, north of the borough, and was half way across the highway when he was struck by a car.

The accident took place on May 15, 1932.

Miller, white haired and tottering, told the Court he saw no car when he crossed the highway. "The next thing I remember I was in the hospital," he described his injuries as consisting of a broken arm, head cuts, and concussion of the brain.

He was a patient in the Easton Hospital for two weeks. His counsel explained the suit for damages is based on the costs of the doctor bills, the permanent loss of wages, the care of nursing and permanent disability.

Bills, produced by the plaintiff, were as follows: a hospital bill of $103.10; out-patient bill of Easton Hospital, $13; Dr. Johnson's bill, $30, and Dr. Conrad's bill, $4.

The plaintiff testified that since the accident his hearing has been destroyed to the extent that in order to communicate with him everything must be reduced to writing.

Food Advertising Increase Is Shown

One of the largest retail food concerns serving the Eastern United States, American Stores Company, has launched an extensive sale this week in co-operation with the government's "Buy Now" campaign.

Increased space in the newspapers is an important means used by the company to carry their message of values to the multitude of food buyers served in this territory. It is believed, that through additional newspaper advertising very satisfactory results can be obtained.

An official of the company stated: "We heartily endorse the 'Now is the Time to Buy' campaign promoted to further the success of the NRA and also for the benefit of the consumers."

"It is our firm conviction that purchases made now will prove to be thrifty buying, for costs are increasing and will be reflected in higher prices. However, our policy has been, and always will be, to eliminate any unnecessary waste in distribution costs and pass on all possible savings to the consumer in the form of lower prices."

"Far-flung contacts with producers, as well as our own kitchens, canneries and packing departments, enable us to maintain a high standard of quality at all times. A mark of distinction has been developed for use on these quality foods—the Polka Dot label. This label and the ASCO Brand are dependable guides for buyers looking for quality foods at reasonable prices."

MORRISVILLE STAGES BIG NRA DEMONSTRATION

Parade and Then A Mass
Meeting is Conducted

TOWN IS DECORATED

MORRISVILLE, Oct. 20.—This borough did itself proud last night when a monster NRA parade marched through the streets to the tune of eight musical organizations. The parade was comprised of five separate divisions and took an hour to pass a given point. There were military units, firemen, business men, workers and floats all in the line.

The borough was in gala attire for the occasion, dwellings and places of business being festooned with the national colors and NRA emblems. Many of the places were illuminated.

The parade culminated in a mass meeting at the Community Home, with Rabbi Holtzberg, of Har Sinai Temple, Trenton, as the orator, Mayor Thomas B. Stockham was also a speaker, while Dennis A. Gavin acted as master of ceremonies. The auditorium was packed to the doors.

Headed by a police escort, the parade was led by Mayor Stockham, borough officials, members of the board of education and representatives of the American Legion. Occupying a prominent position in the line of march was the 119th Medical Regiment Band and units from the 119th Medical Regiment and Battery B, 112th Field Artillery, New Jersey National Guard. The medical unit was headed by Dr. George A. Enion, of Morrisville.

The first division was composed of military organizations. They gained the immediate favor of the crowds as they swung along in even stride behind lively music. Next came volunteer firemen from Morrisville and other towns in Bucks County. Mercer County also had several such organizations in line.

Civic organizations and school children made up the third division. The trucks and floats were in the fourth division, while the last unit consisted of decorated automobiles.

Plans for the parade were made by a committee composed of George W. Duke, chairman; Herbert LaRue, John Sumner, Neal Nolan, Martin C. Wright and former Postmaster Charles H. Heller.

REPUBLICANS NOT TO OPPOSE FREY FOR CONGRESS SEAT

"Put Patriotism Above Partisanship" and Decide Not To Name Nominee

43 CONFEREES MEET

Session Held at Allentown at Which Decision Is Made

ALLENTOWN, Oct. 20.—Assembled in session here yesterday afternoon the conferees named by the Republicans of Bucks and Lehigh counties "put patriotism above partisanship" and agreed not to oppose Oliver W. Frey, Allentown attorney and Democratic nominee for the seat of the late Congressman Henry W. Watson.

The conferees of the ninth congressional district established something of a party precedent when they decided not to place in the field a candidate for the vacancy in Congress caused by the death of Representative Henry W. Watson.

It is believed this is the first time in the history of the Republican Party in Pennsylvania that it permitted a seat in Congress to go by default.

In taking this action the Republican conferees announced they had decided to put patriotism above party and permit the election of a Democrat, without opposition, as a means of signifying their support of the recovery program of the Roosevelt administration.

"As far as I know," said General Edward Martin, chairman of the Republican State Committee, "this is the first time in the history of the party that it has permitted a Congressional election to go by default. But there will be no criticism by the State organization of the action taken by the conferees."

"These are extraordinary times. It will be recalled that some months ago I declared it will be the policy of the Republican organization in this State to co-operate in every legitimate way with the administration in its effort to bring about national recovery."

"It was felt that in view of the overwhelming Democratic majority in Congress one member more or less will make no difference. We felt it was hardly worth while making a national issue of the seat in that district. We are keeping our lines intact for the State election next year."

The unanimous action of the Republican nominees insures the election on November 7 of Oliver W. Frey, of Lehigh county. He was recently nominated by the Democratic State committee on the recommendation of Democratic conferees in the two counties comprising the Congressional district.

Since the death of Watson the Pennsylvania delegation in the House has comprised 22 Republicans and 11 Democrats. The election of Frey next month will give the Democrats 13 members from this State.

In the election last November Watson defeated the then Democratic incumbent, Norton Lichtenwalner.

Former Senator Joseph R. Grundy, in a speech at the meeting of the conferees, approved their decision to interpose no opposition to the election of the Democratic nominee.

"I believe that during the 12 months that will ensue before the elections for the regular two-year term in Congress," said Senator Grundy, "we would do the patriotic thing by setting no obstacle in the way of the (Roosevelt) administration."

He said he felt it would be better under existing conditions for the district to have in Congress a member joined to the administration in party allegiance.

Meeting in the John Hay Republican Club, the conferees, representing the two counties, adopted a resolution setting forth their position was taken on patriotic grounds.

Senator Clarence J. Buckman, of Bucks county, suggested some time ago for the Republican nomination, was elected permanent chairman of the conference after it had been opened by Joseph Bronson.

The Bucks County conferees appointed included Elmer E. Althouse, Sellersville; Oscar O. Bean, Doylestown; Senator Clarence J. Buckman, Langhorne; Mrs. Clarence J. Buckman, Langhorne; Mrs. John W. Cooper, Pineville; Mrs. Lintford C. Cornell, Churchville; Mrs. Horace Fleckenstein, Newportville; former Senator Joseph R. Grundy, Bristol; W. Albertson Haines, Bristol; Howard I. James, Bristol; Mrs. Fred I. Kraft, Bristol; Gordon H. Luckenbill, Quakertown; Charles M. Meredith, Quakertown; Burroughs Michener, Doylestown; Daniel B. Oblinger, New Hope; Mrs. Joseph Palmer, Langhorne; Norman Refsnider, Richlandtown; Joseph S. Slack, Penn's Park; Lewis A. Swartz, Trevose; Thomas E. Stockham, Morrisville; Mark Thatcher, Perkasie, and W. H. Payne, Quakertown.

The Lehigh county conferees were Mrs. Jennie Ritter, Sanders, Allentown; Mrs. Elizabeth DeGroot, Catasauqua; Harry C. Blank, Harry H. Huffert, Allentown; Mrs. Mame L. Frey, Salisbury; Mrs. Octavia M. Freed, Allentown.

TAKE-A-CHANCE

Take-a-chance drivers are the worst enemies of safety. They are on every road and in every crowded thoroughfare of the city. They are always in a hurry. Every second counts with them.

When traffic is running in double lines and streets are full, Take-a-chance dodges in and out and races the field for the next red light. When everybody else is stopping in obedience to signals, he finds opportunity to crowd ahead of two or three and hog a little space. Half the time he is on the wrong side of the street.

The white line down the middle of the street is a mere invitation to him to take a chance. He races along where he has no right-of-way and makes those who have, slow down or be wrecked.

As a matter of fact, the take-a-chance driver on streets controlled by automatic signals gains very little time. He races past you endangering life and property, but you generally find him waiting at the next intersection where the signal is against him.

The honest driver who has valid reason for being in a hurry will, if he has good sense, leave the main thoroughfares and proceed on those less frequented where he can drive as fast as speed restrictions permit. But take-a-chance probably is not too busy in a hurry. He is merely adventurous. He likes the thrill of dodging and halting the timid out of his way and missing at high speed the thinness of the varnish.

Police officers assigned to traffic duty should make a point of sorting out and gathering in this type of driver. He is a menace to the peace and safety of the motoring community.

It is a mistake to think when it is in a hurry that it is in a hurry.

Let Phil and have their Moros at we have our moros.

Pop indignantly remarked to Mom: "That's the kind of a son we raised . . . now he's going to marry a movie star and be a jiga-loo!"

Whitneys poor and Tommy rich; things like that had happened before, only if they did. Mom wasn't going to be mean and look down on everybody who didn't have as much money as she did.

Mom couldn't help feeling sorry for Dorothy and how she would be embarrassed and people would be asking her questions and all; and then Mom wondered how the artist, Elaine, would feel about reading that in the papers in New York. Tommy hadn't been home much in the last two years and never mentioned the artist when he was still going with her because now and then he just happened to mention something in a letter and then, whenever the paper said anything about them, somebody always told Mom. Mom had sort of become accustomed to Marlane and big society, too.

But this Valeska Mourot was hard to get used to so quick. Even as great as Tommy was, he still didn't seem great enough for a movie star with royal blood in her, although . . . he must be. Then, although Uncle Louie was just talking through his hat, these movie stars were always kissing somebody else and Mom knew Tommy would never stand for that if he was anything like Pop because Pop used to be jealous if any other man even looked at Mom—or was yet, for that matter; that was one reason he didn't like Mrs. Farrell's man coming around to collect insurance, as though anybody would look the second time at that banty rooster with his stand-up collars and in the winter he even wore spats!

Then, even though she knew Tommy would make out all right and Pop was just gabbing, still Mom knew that a lot would depend on what girl finally got Tommy. Mom knew how women could influence men and get their own way even when the man didn't know it; if he married Dorothy he would most likely have to take Charlie's place in the factory . . . it was ried Elaine he would have to work in Wall Street or some place like that because, they said, her folks were just rolling in money; but if he married this movie star he couldn't expect her to give up her job making all that money; and Mom didn't want Tommy to be tied to any woman's apron strings, although Valeska Mourot or Elaine like as not didn't know what an apron was—and if they were wise, they'd never find out.

Dorothy, even though she was well-fixed, did know how to take care of a man and even cook for him herself if she had to.

Mom couldn't figure it out ever though she thought and thought about it all night. Uncle Louie came in after everybody had gone to bed and Mom heard him getting hot water so she supposed his stomach was bothering him again which was his own fault although she did feel sorry for him being alone so much. Poor Louie, he just seemed to get the worst of it all the time. He had been full of life during the last campaign and was sure Al Smith was going to get in; but then the moneyed people had put Hoover in and poor Uncle Louie was out in the cold again and he was getting older every day.

Mom had never felt so sorry for anybody as the day when he had had to give up his last torn old white stiff shirt and white tie; he had even taken to mending it himself for the last while but it was all ready to fall apart; and now he was wearing blue shirts every day. Next Christmas, if she lived, Mom was going to get him another white one; too much of the life had seemed to go out of him when he had had to give up that last white shirt and tie.

SUMMERDALE ELEVEN TO MEET THE TROJANS

CROYDON, Oct. 20.—Lower Bucks County football fans will see one of the strongest visiting elevens thus far this season in action at Eddington Field Sunday afternoon, when the noted Summerdale will face the Bristol Trojans. The visitors are rated with larger professional teams such as Clifton Heights, Morton Bulldogs and Mayfair.

Nat Vincent, manager of the Trojans, announced the booking much to the surprise of the players at the Tuesday night practice. The North Park team, which had been scheduled to play this week, was cancelled. Vincent explained, in an "effort to bring a much larger and faster team to the local field. The game was booked at a great expense," he said, "and is the best we have faced on our home grounds this season. The fans in this section want to see real football and we are going to give it to them in a big way from now until the end of the season."

The Trojans will be out in full strength again this week with the return of several injured players. Charley Irwin, star guard of the eleven, who has been on the bench for two weeks with an injured hand, is ready for the fray. Billy Conn, who was taken out in the first half of last Sunday's tilt, with a slightly twisted knee, is also ready for action. It was at first thought that Conn would be out for the rest of the season. Most of the boys who were suffering from minor injuries and wore bandages last Sunday will be in the fray this week whole and hearty and ready for a stiff tussle.

Many new plays will be executed on the field since Coach Morgan has begun to get his own ideas under way. The entire practice last week was spent in line blocking and backfield defense.

Summerdale has recorded a good average this season, having lost but one tilt. The game Sunday will no doubt be interesting.

Holland Hanford, Radcliffe Street, is nursing an injured hand, having the misfortune of losing one of his fingers.

LANGHORNE XI. WILL BE BRISTOL'S RIVAL TODAY

By Oscar Corn
(H. S. Press Representative)
With the Red and Black of Hathboro "on the shelf" the Bristol High grid-ers now turn their attention to their old rivals, the strong Langhorne High eleven, who they will meet today.

All this week, Coach Dougherty has been stressing defense, and has changed his defense formation somewhat. The line weaknesses which showed up last week in the Hathboro game, have been solved. There has been a slight shake-up and a new line-up will be likely to face Langhorne.

Coach Beck, the Langhorne mentor, has high hopes about this game. His eleven has beaten Bensalem 6 to 0, tied the New Jersey Institute for the Deaf, 0 to 0, and they were beaten in a close game by Quakertown, 6 to 0. One game won, one game tied, and one game beaten, not a bad record!

Today's game should certainly be a thriller. Both teams will be out to win, and the winner will be—who knows? Wait until the final whistle blows.

PIGSKIN PUNTS

"Pete" Borrice is gaining quite a few yards for the St. Ann's team. Last week's run for a touchdown was well executed.

The Trojans, now being coached by "Henny" Morgan, of baseball and basketball fame, seem to have perfected an aerial attack which will set down most of their opponents. The Bristol clubs are lacking in the aerial offense this season and if the Trojans are successful other teams will go into the air.

"Russie" Unruh is doing all the line plunging for the Furman A. C. and is driving back most of his opponents. "Gorilla" Wilson is the bulwark of the defense of the Bristol club.

"Tommy" Smoyer, coaching the Y. M. A. team, is having a hard time trying to check in his first win. Tommy's team has been beaten by scores of 13-6 and 13-0.

The trouble with the Bristol High School Alumni team is that there are too many players showing up. Everyone intends to see action in the fray with the High School and the coach will have a tough job trying to please everyone. The Alumni will use former Coach Townsend's system of playing.

"Mike" DeRisi, coach of the St. Ann's A. A. team, will be interviewed over station WTNJ Saturday night at 6.15 p. m.

Hiram H. Keller, in which Ernest Svytes, a minor, and his parents, Joseph and Theresa Svytes, are plaintiffs, and Reuben Shuman, of Backsville, is the defendant.

The statement of claim filed in the case asks $25,000 damages for Ernest, who was injured in an automobile accident on January 4, 1932, and $10,000 for his parents.

The accident took place on the Hellertown-Harrow Road, at Bursonville, in front of the home of the plaintiffs. Witnesses for the plaintiff testified that Ernest was walking along the highway near his home when a car driven by Shuman struck him and knocked him down. His injuries included two fractured ribs, head injuries, abrasions and contusions. The plaintiff also testified that the accident happened within the school zone of the township and that the defendant failed to comply with the caution sign erected in the zone concerning careful driving.

Plaintiff witnesses heard today included Ernest Svytes, Dr. Edward J. Deibert, Harold Bodder, Joseph Svytes, Walter Laubach and Frank Svytes.

Taking the stand, Dr. J. James Condon, an attending physician, testified that Miller was 75 per cent disabled. He does not have more than one-fourth of the use of his faculties. Albert Weiss, with whom the plaintiff has been residing, told the court that he bathed and shaved Miller for nine months. He estimated that he spent an hour and a quarter a week, and that the pay would amount to 40 cents per hour. According to Weiss, the road at the point of the accident is 20 feet wide, the width, from gutter to gutter, was estimated to be 24 feet wide.

Miller was leading Thomas Weiss, a small child, who was also injured. Rose Heffren, who was a passenger in an automobile which was passing by, said she saw Miller lying in the highway.

Roscoe Bougher, a neighbor of the plaintiff, who lives but a short distance away from the spot where the accident happened, testified Miller was lying in the road. The previous witness, Mrs. Heffren, told the court a car, facing East, was standing in the hedge along the side of the road. Dr. Paul Correll, chief surgeon of the Easton Hospital, described the plaintiff's injuries.

Arriving at the scene of the accident, shortly after it had happened, Clarence Apple, Riegelsville policeman, testified Miller was lying in the

The Big, Bad Wolf

By BURNLEY

"WHO'S afraid of the big, bad wolf?" is the theme song of the Big Ten football teams this year, as they attempt to wrest the conference crown from the clutches of Michigan's Wicked Wolverines. At the same time, the Wolverine looms as formidably as ever, and it is quite possible that he will blow down all their houses again. (All right, all right, I'll stop this Disney language and start talking football right away, if you feel that way about it.) Harry Kipke's mighty Michigan men shape up as one of the nation's most powerful football elevens. Despite the loss of the incomparable Harry Newman, quarterback extraordinary and spark plug of last year's unbeaten team, the Wolverines of 1933 look every whit as menacing as they did a year ago. Only one man—Captain Ivy Wilkerson—is missing from the 1932 line, and Kipke has such capable and experienced veterans as Herman Everhardus, Johnny Regeczy, Jack Heston and Capt. Stan Fay in the backfield. Much has been written about the brilliant pair of ends, Willis Ward and Ted Petoskey, two of the speediest men on any gridiron. Ward, the Mercury-footed colored player who leaped into the headlines last spring with his exploits on the cinder paths as Michigan's "one man track team," is gifted with natural football talent as well as phenomenal speed. Watch this dark-skinned boy go on those mid-western gridirons this fall! He'll call it a most annoying thorn in the sides of enemy teams. This week-end, in one of the most important Big Ten games, the Buckeyes from Ohio State will challenge Michigan's supremacy. As usual, Coach Sam Willaman has a good team at Columbus, and the men of Ohio State again have hopes of coping their first Big Ten championship since 1920. The 1933 Buckeyes feature a pair of marvelous tackles in the giant Ted Rosequist, 6 feet 4 inches of gridiron dynamite, and Fred Conrad, another giant of a man. As a scoring threat Willaman has experienced Carl Cramer, who was a sensation two years ago, but failed to shine in 1932 due to injuries. The Buckeyes are ready! Bring on that wicked Wolverine!
